

TAKE ACTION - FAMILIES

Ideas to "Take Action" with your family

The Green Guide – Calgary Herald

Check out the Recycling Guide for important information for recycling all household products (including batteries, plastics, electronics, and clothing)

Read about green transportation and green living to lessen your negative impact on the environment

Earth Day Canada

April is Earth Month, so check out this page to see how you can participate

EcoAction Teams

Help make smarter environmental choices through information provided here

Environment Canada

Tips for making where you live one of Canada's Healthy Neighbourhoods

CPAWS

Check out the "campaigns tab" and the "take action" tab to find out more!

Nature Challenge for kids – David Suzuki Foundation

Check out this interactive, fun Website to see what David Suzuki suggests you can do to help nature!

World Wildlife Fund – WWF Canada

This WWF link has a few ideas for organizations, classrooms, or even individuals on how to take a step closer towards a healthier earth for all living things

The Calgary Zoo – Various Ideas

The conservation tab has a lot of information about education research and outreach, with ideas of things you can do. Other opportunities include donating to the zoo or adopting an animal or even bringing in your old cell phones to help save the gorillas.

Green Hour

It's time to reconnect your child with nature. The time a child spends outdoors has been declining in recent years and this is trend we need to reverse. Check out the Green Hour Society Website to find activities to connect your child to nature

Composting – City of Calgary

Do you have a compost bin in your backyard or at your school? Check out this Website to find out more about composting in Calgary!

Ecological Footprint – City of Calgary

How big is your Ecological Footprint? Find out all of that and more on this Website. The City of Calgary Ecological Footprint Team is working to reduce Calgary's Ecological Footprint

Built Green

Is a voluntary program that promotes the use of "green" building practices. Find out what building green means and how you can take part to reduce the effect of building on the environment

Foothills Land Trust

Is an organization working towards the preservation of Alberta's foothills. Check out their Website to see how they work and what they are currently doing

If you have other ideas to "Take Action", we would love to hear about it. Email us at:
mluchsinger@crossconservation.org